Commission Comment: Definitions in this section were put into alphabetical order and relettered. PL 11-33 took effect on September 2, 1998. Section 1 of PL 11-33 stated its findings and purpose as follows:

Section 1. Findings and Purpose. The Legislature finds that the actual number of illegal aliens residing in the Commonwealth is unknown but is estimated to be 5,000. The continued presence of these aliens, contrary to law, is an affront to the territorial integrity of the CNMI as well as that of the United States. The Legislature also finds that the near equal numbers between aliens and the citizenship of the Commonwealth creates an untenable situation where so many have no political voice, a situation exacerbated by such a large illegal alien population.

However, the Legislature finds that a significant portion of the illegal aliens who remain in the Commonwealth have no desire to continue in an illegal status, and that given the opportunity to leave or to acquire legal status would do so if they did they not fear arrest, or other civil or criminal penalty should they come forward. Accordingly, this Act grants limited immunity for illegal aliens who voluntarily come forward for a period of six months following the effective date of this Act.
